

Proceedings of the Third Sugar Cane and Cassava Convention, Held at Brunswick, Georgia, on the Twelfth Day of April, 1902 (Classic Reprint)

Of course that is saying nothing about the roots, from which you would certainly get twenty to thirty dollars per acre for-topped. As a Brunswickian, I think there is just reason for us to feel proud of the part we have taken in this movement and the good results that have been the outcome of the two conventions that we held here last year. I intend to keep Brunswick in the front rank of just such movements until all the farmers in this section join hands with us and make it the success that we know it will eventually be, and if the outcome of this meeting is as satisfactory and as productive of good results in proportion to the ones we had last year, it will not be a great while before we reach the desired end. I am sure every one of you will be fully satisfied that your presence here has done good, and that you have gotten information that will give you new life in your industry, and make you feel fully repaid for the expense and time the trip has cost you. We not only want you to reap the benefits that will naturally arise from being present at this meeting, but we want you to enjoy your visit to our city, and we extend to you the fullest freedom within its borders. I have some letters here from some of our public men that we hoped to have with us here today that I will read. The first one is from Senator Bacon. All of the letters are addressed jointly to Col. O. P. Goodyear, our president, and to me: U. S. Senate Chamber, Washington, D. C., April 2, 1902. Gentlemen Your very kind letter of the 29th ultimo was duly received, inviting me to attend the Third Cane and Cassava Convention to be held at Brunswick, Ga., April 12th, 1902. I thank you very much for the invitation, but I regret very much that I will be unable to accept the same for the reason that my public duties on account of the importance of matters pending will prevent my being absent from (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in
