

The lifePhone

WHAT IF the ENTIRE universe was a smart phone, and everything on it was an app, a program, or a computer code? and the Programmer of the smart phone allowed some free will to happen with the apps and data content inside the smart phone that set off all sorts of problems? and the Programmer actually step foot inside the smart phone (becoming part of the apps and data himself) alongside the other apps and data to fix everything? and the Programmer taking this radical step actually fixed the smart phone and made it perfect in the end?
