

My Grandma Lives at the Airport

My Grandma Lives at the Airport is about keeping families connected when they live far apart. Author Rebecca Rudner shows how absent family members can stay present in the hearts and minds of young children. The story is about Shelby, who concludes that Grandma must live at the airport because that is where she and her parents always pick Grandma up when Grandma comes to visit. Shelby learns the truth when Grandma gives her a very special map. Families can use their own family photos to personalize a map that is located in the back of the book. Pinned on a wall or taped to the fridge, this special family map is guaranteed to remind little ones of how much they are loved.
