

Theme Parks, Leisure Centres, Zoos and Aquaria (Longman Building Studies)

As retirement years, leisure time, money available for leisure, and desire for therapeutic or healthy activities all increase, the need to provide an extensive range of leisure facilities becomes a matter of concern for both the private and public sectors. The chapters that follow are concerned with exploring the context in which leisure plays a constructive part in modern day life. Reference is made to a range of leisure projects including theme parks, visitor attractions leisure centres, zoos, marine animal parks and aquaria. A final section is concerned with the project development and some of the equipment and techniques involved.
