

A Shakespearean Tale!: The power of words drives a centuries-old quest for a lost manuscript

Fiddlin Family Fun with Shakespeare! A fanciful tale that will stir the curiosity of those who don't yet know Mr. Shakespeare, and tickle the fancy of those who do! Here's a humorous and musical way to introduce William Shakespeare to kids, with quotes and interesting facts, wrapped in Southern charm and lively mouse tails. Did you know Will Shakespeare hears things? Names, clever lines, tiny whispers of inspiration just pop into his head, from whom? Well, Mr. Surrey? Now, that's an interesting story and I'm here to tell it to ya. It's a fanciful tale, that's for certain. In fact, heh, heh, it involves quite a number of tails. But, you'll see. Good day to ya, folks, and young uns. Ever thought of enjoying some fiddlin' fun with Shakespeare, Southern style? Well, my name's Will Surrey, proprietor of the Surrey Gas Station in Stratford Corners and I'm here to tell you all about how the power of a few good words drives a treasure hunt for a lost manuscript. You've got a heap o' travelin' in store, from London to New York City to Stratford Corners, but you don't want to miss the Down Yonder! No, indeed, Will! Mr. Surrey is, well, your storyteller, and I'm your narrator, so welcome to an unusual introduction to quite a few delightful and rather peculiar characters and a few well-known works of William Shakespeare, particularly Taming of the Shrew and Romeo & Juliet. Discover just how often we all quote the Great Bard and don't even know it! And find out what happens when a powerful, big-city family meets the citizens of a charming little hamlet in Alabama in 1955. In four parts, the book has 14 chapters, plus Petruckios Mack Truck Guide to Quotes, Names & Interesting Facts. Read it to anyone 5 and up (with great expression!), or hand it to anyone ages 9 to 12 or grades 4 to 7 (or higher). They'll learn a few new good words. As this is the romantic comedy stage musical that yearned to be a book, our tale includes the lyrics to seven songs. Song and script information is in this book. Sing along with musical flavors from English country dance tunes to Broadway to Southern country swing. Will Surrey calls the score a toe-tapper, touched with a happy tear or two. Come celebrate life, love, and good words with humor that charms all ages. Now, Mr. Surrey? Im right here, so gather round. This should make you smile. And maybe even giggle. And you folks readin it to your grandkids, well, it might just make you nostalgic for the 50s, heh, heh. Remember, dont forget to imagine! Anyone for checkers? Thank you, Will! The historical fiction series that will follow the journey of the manuscript from London to Alabama, from 1616 to 1955, is in the works. See more about Tales of the Lost Manuscript in this book. The fictional liberties we take with details of Shakespeares life are explained in Part Five. The layout is designed for a friendlier and more open page. Dont miss the Down Yonder! Scroll up and get a copy and try it out with your kids today!
